

KSB's Speaker Series Resumes on Wednesday, September 10

Paolo on the Art of Territorial Dwellings

Keep Sedona Beautiful resumes its Speaker Series on Wednesday, September 10 at 5:30 pm featuring Paolo, who will speak about the Art of Territorial Dwellings.

If you are curious about what types of dwellings are best suited to Sedona's high desert, you will enjoy insights gained from this presentation. Come learn about architecture that blends harmoniously with the land, is integrated from the inside-out to enhance current life-styles while utilizing technologies that conserve energy, water and natural resources, and features interiors that advance indoor air quality and age-in-place living. The roles of Architectural Review Committees and Sedona City Design Guidelines will also be discussed.

The evening includes complimentary appetizers donated by El Rincon Restaurante Mexicano and refreshments provided by Keep Sedona Beautiful (KSB).

Paolo, AKA Paul Scardina, brings nearly three decades of experience to the practice of residential architecture and interior design for new homes and remodels of all types. His passion is to integrate architectural and interior design to create sustainable dwellings that both satisfy the needs of residents and respect the natural elements.

Mr. Scardina is a LEED for Homes Accredited Professional through the United States Green Building Council and is certified by the National Council of Interior Design Qualification (NCIDQ). He holds a Bachelor of Interior Design degree from Western Design Institute, San Francisco, a Master of Fine Arts degree from Kent State University in Ohio; and a Bachelor of Arts degree from Hiram College, Ohio. He is a professional member and past president (1998-1999) of the Oregon Chapter of the International Interior Design Association (IIDA) and serves as the chair of the Architectural Review Committee for the Eagle Rock subdivision in West Sedona.
